A Way to Success for Students with ADD and Creative Minds

➢ Program designed for students entering grade 9 -12.

If you have:
- difficulty remembering to do things, getting assignments turned in, or feeling overwhelmed when you have too much to do
- tried the ordinary time management systems and they just didn’t work it could be due to having ADTs (Attention Deficit Traits) or one of the “creative personality types” described by Meyers-Briggs.

During this week you can learn about your tendencies and begin creating a manual for your unique brain with strategies and rules that you write yourself. We will figure out what triggers you need to pull to find your unique way into the success zone. This approach builds on the strengths of being different from ‘neurotypical’ organizers.
